What do we offer?

We are a premium, independent, one-stop shop providing a diverse range of assessment and consulting services for children, families and communities across the public and private sectors. Regardless of the type of assessment or consulting service we are tasked with, Key Assets Consulting is committed to delivering the same hallmarks of:

Excellence, Experience and Expertise.

We recognise Time is a Key Asset

Having worked as an assessor in family law proceedings and as a Guardian Ad Litem for over 18 years prior to joining Key Assets Consulting, I understand the immense significance of time in the life of a child and family experiencing legal proceedings; which is why efficient service delivery is at the core of all that we strive to achieve at Key Assets Consulting. When we expedite delivery of high quality child centred assessments to the decision makers, we play our part in rendering the processes more child and indeed family friendly; in this way we can ultimately impact to create better outcomes.

Accessible Expertise

We know that you may find yourself in need of an expert independent assessment or consulting service at short notice, which is why we have developed this Directory; ensuring you have the details you need at your fingertips, when you need it. We are continuously expanding our services to meet the growing demands and will ensure this Directory is updated regularly to meet the evolving needs.

Our Team

Our multidisciplinary team consists of independent psychologists, social workers, social care workers and psychotherapists. In early 2020 we will extend our services to include Occupational Therapists and Speech and Language Therapists to meet the demands of parents and children requiring specific assessments/interventions related to learning disabilities and Autism Spectrum Disorders. In addition where particularly specialist independent expertise (e.g. forensic psychiatry) is required, we have the advantage of linking with our UK network of consultants available through our sister company, Carter Brown (UK). We are a growing service set to expand significantly in 2020 and beyond.

Bringing you Reliable, Evidence Informed Practice and Gold Standard Assessment Models

Our psychologists and associated multidisciplinary professionals are highly trained and experienced in their chosen fields. All our consultants receive strong case management support and clinical supervision. In addition all Key Assets Consulting reports are thoroughly reviewed by our Quality Assurance team prior to being released.

Our Parenting Capacity Assessments are informed by the Assessment of Need Framework together with Budd's evidence based Parenting Capacity Assessment model. Our consideration of reunification decisions for Child Care proceedings is informed by the NSPCC's comprehensive Reunification Assessment Framework. While complex Family Law matters around relocation decisions are informed by Austin's forensic model of Relocation Assessment.

EXPERIENCE

I have worked in the field of forensic & clinical psychology since 1980, when I was employed by Moss Side & Park Lane High Security Hospitals. I embarked on Clinical Psychology training at Liverpool University in 1981.

I have been a lecturer at three UK Universities, undertaking forensic research, and developing academic courses:

- ▶ Child Protection (Diploma and Masters Degree, Liverpool)
- ▶ Gathering Evidence from Children (Certificate, Liverpool)*
- ▶ Forensic Behavioural Science (Diploma & MSc, Liverpool)*
- ▶ Child Forensic Studies (Diploma & MSc, Leeds)*
- ▶ Forensic Studies Programme (Diploma & Masters degree, Cumbria)*

*Course Director

In 1995 I served as Forensic course examiner on the British Psychological Society Diploma in Clinical psychology. I have served as external examiner to several UK forensic courses.

I gave evidence at the (1992) Ashworth Hospital Inquiry.

I was a founder member of both the Division of Criminological & Legal Psychology (which became the Division of Forensic Psychology) and the Forensic Faculty of the Division of Clinical Psychology of the British Psychological Society. I was chair of the latter between 2000 and 2003.

I have been a member of the National Executive Committee of NOTA, (the national association for the assessment and treatment of sex offenders) and have twice served as a member of the NOTA policy committee, developing guidance on multidisciplinary practice, sexually explicit materials, community monitoring of sex offenders.

For two years I was an associate editor of the British Journal of Legal & Criminological Psychology and of the Journal of Sexual Aggression.

My academic posts have always been appointments which included work within NHS (or DoH) settings. I have worked in low, medium and maximum security settings, as well as within community services. I worked for seven years in Calderstones NHS Trust. This is a low-medium secure forensic service and was the largest such NHS provision specialising in adults with a learning disability.

My most senior NHS post was Lead Psychologist with the Forensic & Special Care Service of Leeds Community and Mental Health Teaching NHS Trust. I was responsible for a service to community and low security provision, for adults with a wide range of disorders. I also lead a team which undertook forensic assessments of over 300 adults reporting institutional child abuse.

I left my academic and NHS posts in 2005, and formed the Carlton Glasgow Partnership and i-Psych Assessments, offering a range of forensic and psychological services, including assessments of risk and psychopathology in child protection and criminal proceedings. I also offer risk assessment of professionals whose professional practice may be impaired by mental health problems, sexual deviance, personality problems and substance abuse.

I both conduct and evaluate investigative and forensic interviews with children and adults with disabilities.

For some years the focus of my work shifted away from direct work to development of assessment tools consisting of computer software and tablet apps. I designed two assessment procedures currently available as iPad apps, and shortly to be released on Windows tablets. I am particularly interested in risk factor visualisation using interactive technology.

My recent research activities relate to the development of computer assisted assessments of sexual interest, interpersonal behaviour, motivation to change, and pre-offence behaviours and cognitions.

In addition to the above:

- ▶ I regularly attend seminars, conferences & training related to forensic psychology. My CPD has become increasingly specialised over the years, reflecting changes in my practice.
- ▶ I maintain a professional library (currently standing at around 3,500 papers and chapters)
- ▶ I have authored or co-authored 30 chapters, papers and reports, mostly on forensic themes.
- ▶ Over the past ten years I have presented approximately 50 papers at national and international conferences. The majority related to forensic issues, including forensic interviewing, risk assessment of sex offenders, assessment of internet offenders, and the cognitive assessment of deviant sexual interest.
- ▶ I regularly train other professionals in techniques for conducting investigative interviews with children and adults with Intellectual Disabilities or mental health problems

Between 2015 & 2017 I was clinical lead for pathways and clustering at Bradford District Care Trust.

CURRENT PRACTICE

For over ten years I have been engaged as forensic interviewing consultant by Child & Family Training, a not-for-profit organisation developing tools and training for professionals working in child protection. This involves training professionals, developing training materials and working on structured assessment/interviewing tools.

I have also been commissioned by a Canadian company, Pacific Behavioural Assessment to develop sex offender assessment tools. PBA has published four tools I developed, including a cognitive assessment of paedophile interest. I also maintain a computerised version of Blackburns CIRCLE, which has been shown to be predictive of violence and aggression in both prison and mental health settings.

I continue to undertake risk assessments of adults, parents and adolescents, primarily for courts & tribunals but sometimes for other purposes. I also maintain an interest in new developments in delivery and assessment of mental health care & structured risk assessment.

In 2017 I received the British Psychological Society Forensic Faculty Award for Innovation in Practice.

RELEVANT EXPERIENCE

I am a chartered occupational psychologist with over 12 years of experience working as a mental health professional with children, teenagers and adults as well as in organisational settings. I spent a large part of my career working as a purveyor for mental health systems change for young people in Ireland through my work in Jigsaw - The National Centre for Youth Mental Health, and was a core developer in the establishment and evolution of this not-for-profit organisation founded by Dr. Tony Bates. I have developed a broad therapeutic approach rooted in strong interpersonal, clinical and therapeutic skills, enabling me to deliver person-centred, solution focused assessments and interventions - both on an individual basis and within an organisational environment.

Central to my role in Jigsaw was working with and alongside 'at risk' young people, parents and families in the development and implementation of a youth-centered and community-based collaborative approach.

My practice has given me a sensitive understanding of the often complex elements which impact on children and parents including; attachment difficulties, addictions, child abuse, suicidal risk and developmental trauma.

Part of my work for the past few years has evolved into psycho-education, expert media psychologist with RTÉ Radio One and 2FM and as a keynote speaker at a variety of mental health forums throughout the country.
