

CHILDREN'S HEALTH RESEARCH CHARTER

This Charter sets out key principles to guide anyone involved in child health research, and is designed to help children, families and caregivers, and health professionals have informed conversations about child health research.

CONSENT & CARE

Ask for my consent and prioritise care

HONESTY

Make sure my family, caregivers and I understand the research and answer all our questions honestly.

INCLUSIVITY

Commit to including children from all backgrounds, abilities and ethnicities with equal importance.

LISTENING

Listen to my views, value my voice and make sure I am involved throughout the journey.

DIGNITY

Help me understand my rights.

RESPONSIBILITY

Keep me safe by engaging in responsible research and include my family and care givers so that they are informed and can support me.

EMPATHY

Approaching research with understanding and sensitivity to my concerns or questions.

NEUTRAL

Ensure the research is fair.
